

2013 December 15-20

Annual Byzantine Studies Conference

Annual Byzantine Studies Conference

December 15-20, 2013

The Byzantine Studies Conference is an annual forum for the presentation and discussion of papers embodying current research on all aspects of Byzantine history and culture. Two items from University of Michigan collections will be discussed in papers given at the conference: the smaller of two fragments of an early papyrus roll with a later Byzantine codex (Ms. 50).

Graduate students giving papers at the Byzantine Studies Conference who do not reside in the area of the conference are entitled to partial reimbursement of travel expenses.

This material is produced as design exercise and is not intended to advertise an actual event.

Image: Mosaic in the Church of the Multiplication of the Loaves und the Fishes at Tabgha near the Sea of Galilee (Yam Kinneret), Israel.

Registration: www/byzantine.umich.edu

Follow us on Twitter: @byzantineconference

434 South State St.
Ann Arbor, MI, 48109
734.764.9304
byzantinestudies@umich.edu

